Contents

From the Editor
135 Highlights of this edition
  D R Wilson

Editorial
136 Update on military diarrhoea: current status and future plans
  P Connor, R J Gutierrez

Personal views
141 UK Role 4 Military Infection Services: past, present and future
  N E Dufty, M S Bailey

Reviews
150 A brief history of British military experiences with infectious and tropical diseases
  M S Bailey

158 Malaria
  T E Fletcher, N J Beauching

167 Hepatitis E: the forgotten virus
  D A Freshwater

169 Hepatitis B and C in the Armed Forces
  D A Freshwater

175 Sepsis management in the deployed field hospital
  A Mc D Johnston, D Easley, I Evington

181 Respiratory infections in the military
  M K O’Shea, D Wilson

190 Tuberculosis and the military
  M K O’Shea, D Wilson

200 Undifferentiated febrile illnesses in military personnel
  D S Burns, M S Bailey

206 Sexual health and HIV in the Army
  N E Dufty, K Clay, R Wilson, J Watson

215 Skin and soft tissue infections in the military
  L Lamb, M Morgan

Tropical skin diseases in British military personnel
  M S Bailey

Original papers
229 Enteric disease on Operation HERRICK
  P Connor, E Hutley, H E Mulcahy, M S Riddle

237 Deployed antimicrobial stewardship: an audit of antimicrobial use at Role 3
  T E Fletcher, E Hutley, C J Adcock, N Martin, D R Wilson

Case reports
240 Acute hepatitis A virus infections in British Gurkha soldiers
  C A Green, D A Ross, M S Bailey

243 An unusual case of anaemia and lymphadenopathy in a soldier on deployment
  M K O’Shea, R G Gregg, J Naylor

Footnotes and Endpieces
247 Infectious disease control in the Ionian Islands during the British Protection (1815–1864)
  C Tsiamis, E Thalassinou, E Poulakou-Rebelakou, D Anogitis-Pol, A Hatzakis

Receive regular table of contents by email.
Register using this QR code.