VIGNETTE

Surgical Saddlery

The military surgeon must be adaptable and able to function with the minimal of equipment. In the case of a surgeon stationed in India in the 1920s he was without a Thomas Splint, Steinman's pin or a skeletal calliper, so with help of the local Ordnance services had the calliper fashioned from a stirrup.

PH Starling
Curator AMS Museum